DETAILED ACTION

- 1. A Request for Reconsideration was filed 3/18/03.
- 2. The disclosure is objected to because in Claim 9, line 1, "interior" lacks antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.
- 3. The disclosure is objected to because in Claim 11, "start" lacks antecedent basis.
- 4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In Claim 5, all references to "a control device" are redundant, and/or unclear, because this element was inclusively established with the recitation "a device...according to claim 1" in lines 5-6.

- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Darby et al 5835873 in view of Byon 5847472.

Application/Control Number: 09/940,050

Art Unit: 3611

Re Claims 1-5, Darby discloses device 100 for sensing an object/person in a vehicle interior comprising

Sensor (col 11, lines 4-5) for object/person,

Impact sensor 340,

Non-volatile memory 360 (col 11, lines 35-36) storing sensor data,

Controller 200 for occupant protection means 410, and,

Main controller 310.

The patent does not disclose the memory as storing activation data from the protection means controller, while Byon shows this feature in col 6, lines 64, to col 7, line 2. It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include this feature, as shown in Byon, to provide a more comprehensive record of the operation of the protection system, so to serve as an accurate chronological record for subsequent review for improvements, or for insurance/claim purposes, etc.

Re Claim 6, Darby discloses the controller of the protection means as outputting a signal when the latter is triggered, as explained in col 11, lines 29-34, i.e., "memory 360 [stores]...data from...the safety device controllers 200".

Re Claims 7 and 8, Darby discloses the controller of the protection means as outputting a signal when impact exceeds a threshold value, as indicated in col 11, lines 37-49, i.e., "the ECU 310 comprises a means for controlling and interchanging data...with the...acceleration sensor 340, and with the memory 360, and for performing control algorithms...".

- 6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Application/Control Number: 09/940,050

Art Unit: 3611

Claims 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byon.

Byon further discloses a method for sensing an object/person in the interior of the vehicle comprising

Employing sensor (col 11, lines 4-5) to determine whether an object/person is present, Supplying sensor data to control device 200, arranged spatially separate from the sensor, for occupant protection means 410.

The reference does not specify the storing the data in a device containing the sensor, but it would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include this feature to allow quick access to the data for the control device in order for expedient actuation of the protection device as necessary.

The reference discloses further steps in the method, the steps derived from the structure and means discussed above.

7. RESPONSE TO REMARKS

Examiner reiterates her rejections of Claims 1-8 as discussed above. Claim 1 recites, inter alia, "A device for sensing an object or a person in an interior of a vehicle, comprising..." a memory...and, a control unit connected to said memory".

Examiner has reconsidered the previous allowance of Claims 9-12 because Byon discloses the recited method, as provided above. She apologizes for any inconvenience.
